Thanks for this s. 47F(1) – a nicely laid out plan.

As you say, hopefully the Bahrain solution will come to pass. However my guys will continue to work with you on the ESCAS arrangements for Pakistan s. 33(a)(iii) just in case it doesn't.

Cheers,
Lee

Hi s.
 47F(1)

As discussed please find attached draft health certificates to use to seek an import permit from the Pakistani officials that DAFF can certify to. I have also included the endorsements below to assist with any translations necessary. As you are aware should this option be progressed we will also need to work through ESCAS approvals. The sooner that you can provide relevant documentation for the approval the supply chain the quicker sooner that it can be assessed.

I, a duly authorised Government Veterinary Officer certify that:

1. Australia is officially free of Foot and Mouth Disease, Rinderpest, Peste des Petits Ruminants, Sheep Scab, Goat Pox, Sheep Pox, Warble Fly, Rabies, Brucella melitensis and Contagious Caprine Pleuropneumonia.
2. The sheep:
 - Showed no clinical signs of anthrax on the day of shipment; and
 - Were from a property (s) prior to shipment in an establishment where no case of anthrax was officially declared during the 20 days prior to export or were vaccinated, not less than 20 days and not more than 6 months prior to shipment
3. The animals have been held in isolation for at least three days, and were examined by a government accredited veterinary officer within 48 hours prior to shipment and showed no signs of disease.

The decks and compartments of the vessel used for transporting the ruminants and storing feed have been thoroughly cleaned.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you need any additional information.

Dear Jonathan / s. 47F(1)

After significant effort by ourselves and Industry and Government representatives in Bahrain over the last week we have been unable to resolve the discharge issue of Ocean Drover s. 47G(1)(a) and are now in a position where we are required to enact alternate Contingency Option 3 of our earlier delivered contingency plan.

I appreciate your considered and low key approach to the matter to date and look forward to discussing the way forward in the morning.

Watchdog calls to address meat issue

Activists urge end to meat import monopoly as way out of potential controversies

Manama: A Bahraini consumer watchdog has called for the establishment of a committee of representatives from all parties involved in importing and selling state-subsidised meat.

The call on Monday follows controversy over the import of meat deemed unfit for consumption and the war of words between the importing company and municipal and health councillors. The market has been heavily impacted by the shortage of meat and people bewildered by the claims and counterclaims over potential health hazards.

The Bahraini Consumers' Protection Society (BCPS) said that it wanted to be involved in the talks to discuss the various stages of importing live or frozen food and to give recommendations to ensure there would be no repeat of the controversy.

In a statement, the society said the state was heavily subsidising the import of meat and that there was a need to ensure a problem-free process.

The issue of contaminated or rotten food imported by Bahrain should be contained and addressed properly, it said.

"We have been receiving several complaints about this vital product that last year cost the state BD 50 million [Dh488.5 million]," the society said.

The watchdog said that only one company was licensed to import subsidised meat, live or frozen, and that the situation needed to be addressed.

"The existence of a sole company that monopolises the import of state-subsidised meat is a violation of the free economy principle of offer and demand. This means that we should have more than one importer so that we avoid a repeat of the controversy over the subsidised meat," the society said. "We believe that forming a committee would help put an end to rumours and claims that make consumers doubt the validity of the imported meat and the extent of the compliance with slaughtering as prescribed by Islamic rules."

Two ships carrying rotten meat were intercepted in two separate incidents in summer by local officials during random checks.

Commerce officials have been pushing for contingency plans, including the diversification of livestock imports, to help meet meat shortages in the local market.

Hi [REDACTED] s. Can you check that my understanding of the sequence of events is correct including the UAE refuelling?

MV Ocean Drover

On 22 August 2012, the Ocean Drover arrived in Bahrain to deliver 22 000 sheep, having already unloaded 6 800 sheep in Oman and 46 500 sheep in Qatar from the same consignment without incident.

Bahrain authorities raised concerns about the potential presence of 'Scabby Mouth' (or 'Orf') in a small number of sheep in the consignment. Scabby Mouth was not previously notified by Bahrain as a disease of concern, and is a minor viral disease that is present in most sheep and goat flocks throughout the world.

The Ocean Drover was requested to move out of the port pending a formal decision. During this period, the vessel refuelled at Fujairah in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) and the exporter also progressed detailed negotiations with the Department on potential contingency arrangements.

After minister to minister telephone call during which the Bahraini Minister advised that the vessel should return to port and all healthy sheep will be unloaded the vessel returned to the port.

Following inspections and extensive discussions between Australian and Bahrain officials, the Bahrain government issued approval to offload all healthy sheep on 30 August 2012.

After returning to the port on 30 August 2012, the vessel was requested to vacate its berth by the Port authority. No official explanation for this instruction was provided to the Australian government.

As 31 August was the beginning of the Bahrain weekend, and with the prospect of prolonged uncertainty and delay, the exporter decided to proceed to a contingency location, primarily in the interests of the welfare of the sheep on board.

The Department completed a detailed assessment and approval for export to Pakistan on 1 September 2012. The Ocean Drover arrived in Karachi on 3 September and commenced unloading on 4 September. Unloading was completed without incident with independent monitoring on 5 September 2012.

The exporter has an Exporter Supply Chain Assurance System (ESCAS) in place in Pakistan. More information on ESCAS is available at www.daff.gov.au/aqis/export/live-animals/livestock/escas

The health and welfare of the sheep was monitored by a Department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry accredited veterinarian throughout the voyage and during unloading. The mortality rates for the shipment were below normal reportable levels.

Pakistani customs computer system (those for words in a row tells the story) down so no IGM number could be issued till last night. Will start this morning as planned. I am advised quarantine not a problem but it's not clear to me if there has been an inspection yet.
